PRETTY PLAYFUL

We love tween queen Selena Gomez's playful corkscrews. "This is very easy to do and most anyone can wear it," Blando says. "Go through with a small barrel iron to create narrow curls." Then, smooth out the front with a blower or flat iron. "It gives you a more formal look."

IN THE SPIN

Mad Men's Christina Hendricks is known for her curly locks; her red-hot strands are rarely styled straight. To do, "Apply a heavy gel and twist sections, allowing them to dry, then mist with hairspray." If your hair needs a little more help, use a curling iron.

TEXTURE'S LATEST

If you want to be on the cutting edge, inject your cut with texture, a style element that's turning up all over Hollywood. We went to Edmondo Blando, owner of Salon Vanity in Philadelphia, PA, to find out how to achieve our hot looks.

BIG TOP

The key to actress Elaine Hendrix's blonde, highlighted curls is to make them look as natural as possible, says Blando. To do just that, "Diffuse-dry hair with mousse or volumizer." The top is then blown back to achieve extra crown volume, which makes her fine strands look a lot thicker.

SEXY SPIRALS

On Nip/Tuck, Kelly Carlson has always favored curls. For a recent red carpet event, she gave her look a touch of Marilyn Monroe glam. "It's barrel-curled for texture," Blando says. "Spray gel would be great to break it up so it's not so prom-y."

NATURAL WONDER

Jenna Elfman sizzles in butter-blond ringlets. "This look is very big right now because it's enhancing the hair's natural state," says Blando. To give bend a boost, extra curls were added with a curling or flat iron. Volume is concentrated at the sides rather than on top so the look doesn't seem at all forced.

WAVE RUNNER

Kellie Pickler was a standout on the fifth season of American Idol, but right now, her wavy, shoulder-skimming bob is what's got our attention. According to Blando, the top was left smooth, then a flat iron was used to piece-out hair from temples to ends for a sexy, disheveled feel. KEVIN MAZUR/WIREIMAGE
